FFA tractor driving skills competition: a match made for Expo

Ag Expo and the FFA's annual tractor driving skills contest have become like salt and pepper. They belong together.

For the fourth consecutive year, the contest will be at Expo, scheduled for Tuesday, July 21, at 9 a.m. at the Special Events area.

The skills competition is open to high school students in two contests. Freshmen and sophomores compete in the two-wheel trailer competition, while juniors and seniors compete in the four-wheel wagon handling event.

A standard course is set up with poles representing obstacles. On top of each pole perches a golf ball, and points are deducted for every ball that falls. Points also come off if the tractor stalls, if the gears grind or the clutch pops. Points also can be deducted, if the wagon is not square between the poles, or if too much time was spent maneuvering.
